Hello Mr. Woolie!

I hope you had a wonderful Christmas! I got home from school in the beginning of December, but these past 2 weeks have flown by! My best friend, Monica, goes to Georgia Southern and since she has come home we have been attached at the hip. We have cattle both in Angleton with Mr. Head but also in Louisiana. We went last week to check on our calves we received at the Gulf Coast show (KKL Blind Faith and Super Stud) and they are both doing well. Stud is not growing as we had hoped but Monica and I are hopeful that he may just be a late bloomer. Even if he is not, we still love him. :) I plan on moving him back onto show feed before the Gulf Coast show in April. After the show Monica and I are moving our two calves and my bull out to Louisiana with the others. It is very exciting and we have a blast dreaming big and envisioning our future. Though we know not all our dreams may become a reality, we do believe that through hard work and dedication we can achieve the ranch we dream of. Maybe not in the next ten years, but who knows in 20+ years.

I do not go back to school until January 19th which I am very excited about! I just got back all my grades and did very well. Next semester I am taking about 18 credits...I can never remember. I am trying to complete all my poultry science degree requirements in three years and do teacher certifications the final year. I am trying to keep my options open and be flexible where ever life may take me.

Thank you very much for donating Super Stud! I am very excited to have him, he is such a cutie! :) I hope you have a great holiday season and have a wonderful new year.
