

11/3/10

Dear Mr. King,

I'm really sorry Mooyah and I couldn't make it to the Ark-La-Tex Show! I got caught up in work and college applications. Did you get a chance to go? I am excited to say that I think the Ft. Worth Stock Show in January or the CCISD Show, also in January, will be Mooyah's first show! I have been working with him as much as I can and loving on him all the time! He is such a cutie! His temperament is getting better but he is still scared of everything and I'm sure he thinks the world is out to get him. I just let him out into the pasture today and he was so excited, he ran non-stop around the field at least three times. This weekend is the balloon festival and it was cool to see all the hot air balloons out over the pastures! It was truly breathtaking. I hope everything is all well with you, and I really would like to meet up with you at the barn some time! It seems like every time, I always miss you. If you want to meet up sometime, I have to schedule it out due to work, so I will have to know two weeks in advance. I'm sorry. The Ft. Worth Stock Show is January 14th-19th but we aren't sure when the longhorns show yet and the CCISD show is from January 24th through the 28th though we will only be showing one day out of that week and I'm not sure what day it is yet. I will be sure to get back to you on the exact dates but this was just to give you a general idea. I hope to see you soon, and hope you are doing well.

Your operatives,

Katie Gillis and Trails End Mooyah

P.S. Say hi to Kodah for Mooyah and I
